TEACHER WORKSHOP

A workshop in conjunction with Yale Rep's upcoming production of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night, directed by Carl Cofield.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 2019

9AM-3:30PM

August Wilson Lounge, 1120 Chapel Street

SESSIONS

About the Production: A New Vision of Illyria

Hear from director Carl Cofield about his creative process and vision for Yale Rep's Afro-futuristic production of Twelfth Night. Delve into the show's design elements, including costumes and scenery.

Carl Cofield, Director of Twelfth Night at Yale Rep

From the Page to the Stage: Speaking and Acting Shakespeare

Catch a glimpse of how actors study and prepare Shakespeare's language in performance. Participate in on-your-feet activities focusing on dramatic poetry, rhyme scheme, and iambic pentameter. Learn simple tools to help students analyze dialogue and the meaning behind Shakespeare's scenes.

Arturo Soria, Yale School of Drama Actor
Kineta Kunutu, Yale School of Drama Actor

Twelfth Night at the Yale Center for British Art

This object-based session will demonstrate how using original works of art in the museum environment can enhance teacher and student knowledge of Shakespeare's Twelfth Night. Paintings, prints, drawings, and rare books will be used to understand critical moments in the play, character development, and how to use visual literacy skills to 'read' these images in a new way.

Linda Friedlaender, Senior Curator of Education at the Yale Center for British Art

Tools for the Classroom: Bringing Twelfth Night to Students

Learn new strategies and activities for teaching Twelfth Night. Prepare your students for their trip to the theatre or help them make meaning from the experience after the WILL POWER! performances.

Jenny Nelson, WILL POWER! Curriculum Consultant and Instructor at the Regional Center for the Arts

*Content subject to change. A detailed schedule will be provided to registered participants.
